DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present invention is directed towards a system and a method for programming a programmable hearing aid with a configurable hearing aid programmer under the control of a computer. Independent Claims 1, 6, 14 and 15 identifies the uniquely distinct feature of a firmware program downloaded to the computer in response to the execution of the hearing aid fitting software on the computer and a user input at the computer prior to downloading a firmware program from the computer to the hearing aid programmer.

The closest prior art to Zhang (US 20020054689) teaches transmitting "software resources" from an upgrade server machine after verifying the user. However, Zhang does not suggest or teach "downloading a firmware program to the hearing aid programmer in response to the execution of the hearing aid fitting software..." See at least applicant's arguments on page 9 lines 15-23.

Eaton (US 20050283263A1) teaches a mobile device capable of receiving an upgraded audiological software from the server. See at least Eaton on page 3 [0040]-[0043].

Eaton'263 does not explicitly teach "downloading a firmware program to the hearing aid programmer in response to the execution of the hearing aid fitting software..."

The prior art fails to anticipate or render the independent claims obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
